HONOR TO OUR DEAD

Unveiling of Hill's Statue and Hollywood Memorial To-Morrow.

THE FULL PROGRAMME

Voterans-Visiting Organizations-Musie, Orations, and Salutes.

To-morrow will be observed as a double memorial. In the morning the statue of General Ambrose Powell Hill, commander of the Third Army Corps, Army of North-ern Virginia, will be unveiled, with a grand military and veteran demonstration. In the evening the graves of the Confederate dead at Hollywood, many of whom followed Hill, will be decorated.

The two events will be in marked contrast. That in the morning will be a brave display of flaunting banners, glistening bayonets, accompanied by splendid music and all the pomp and circumstance of war. That of the evening will be a scene of arms reversed and drooping colors, with dirges echoing as the shadows lengthen.

On both occasions there will be orations The one attuned to a chord of exhultation

The one attuned to a chord of exhultation that such men as A. P. Hill and those he commanded lived; the other voicing a lamentation that such as he and those who stood with him died. The object of both, however, will be the same—to honor the heroic Confederate soldier.

The day will be a holiday. The State and city offices, the banks, the freight depots of the steamboat and railroad companies, and the exchanges will be closed, and the occasion, being also National Decoration-Day, Sunday hours will be kept at the post-office. The public schools will be dismissed at 12 o'clock, and the Hill-Monument Association and the Hollywood-Memorial Association urge that business be entirely suspended in the city.

FINAL ARRANGEMENTS.

The committees of the Monument Association and the Pegram Battalion Association held meetings last night and made final arrangements for the unveiling ceremonies, the reception of visiting organizations, &c. Several of the veteran camps are expected to arrive in the city to-day and will be met by the Reception Committees of the Pegram Battalion Association and Lee Camp and escorted to their quarters, the Mechanica' Institute.

The headquarters of those having charge of monument demonstrations presented a busy scene last evening. A number of veterans unattached had reached here and reported, and were renewing old friendships. Captain some lyst varietions, and giving committeemen instructions, and Captain Ellett was, as he had been for weeks, in demand on all sides.

General James A. Walker, the unveiling orator, reached the city last night and is stopping at Murphy's Hotel, and other distopping at Murphy's Hotel, and other distormers are expected to arrive stopping at Murphy's Hotel, and other dis-tinguished visitors are expected to arrive to-day. Miss Lucy Lee Hill and sister are guests of Colonel William H. Palmer. and the massive granite structure it surmounts became an accomplished fact. The monument is located at the intersection of the Hermitage road and Laburanum avenue about a mile and a half north of the city. It consists of a base course of two members, a die, cornice, shaft, and capital, which supports a bronze statue of Hill heroic in size. The subject is dressed in the full uniform of a heutenant-general of the Confederate States Army. His left foot is thrown forward and the weight of the body rests on the right. The right hand hangs at the side and the left hand grasps his sword, drawing it up so as to throw the hilt just above the hollow of the arm. The design is by W. L. Sheppard, of this city, from his own crayon of Hill, now in the possession of Colonel Palmer, and the bronze from the enlarged model of Buberl.

The whole structure surmounts a bastion fort, in which it is designed to place two pieces of artillery and a stand of small arms. The situation is in the neighborhood of some of General Hill's most brillant achievements, and near by where he took command of his first brigade, and subsequently of his Light Division.

The entire ceremonies of the unveiling will be the grand display of the military, who will turn out in unusually large numbers.

The infantry participating in the parade, which will be the finest seen in this city since the unveiling of the First Verginia Regiment, will be the first bright of the first Verginia Programme.

The infantry participating in the parade will report to the commanding officer on this city since the unveiling of the First Regiment Virginia Volunteers, Eucutemad Colonel A. L. Phillips commanding, right resting on Ninth street in two lines.

THE PROCESSION IN THE AFFERNOON.

At 4:30 o'clock in the atternoon the ladies' association and the junior organization will assemble at Dr. Hoge's church to form in the procession which will go to the cemetery. The former organization has 180 members, while the latter has about 160. The ladies will all wear the badge of the association, which is made of Confederate gray and fastened by a brass button representing the Virginia motto, "Sie Semper Tyranna."

The badge of the "Juniors" is similar to that of their seniors, but has the inscription "H. M. A. Jrs." written on it. Omnibuses and wagons will carry the little ones. There are nine vehicles in all to be used for this purpose. Each of these will be in charge of a lady detailed from the association to take care of the children, 'the ladies will ride in carriages, which they will provide for themselves. Four of the oldest members of the organization will also be in the procession, which will leave the church about 5 o'clock. The Ashby Light-Horse, the recently organized cavalry troop, who will act as an execution the ladies, will make their first public appearance in their new uniforms.

Visiting Templare Entertained.

About 100 members of Pittsburg Commandery, Knights Templars, arrived in Richmond yesterday evening and spent the night in the city as the guests of St. Andrew's Commandery, of this place. The visiting Knights were quartered at Ford's Hotel, where a couple of huge bowls of punch was served immediately after their arrival. St. Andrew's Commandery assembled at the Masonic Temple at 8 o'clock last evening, in full Templar dress, and marched down to Ford's. From this point they escorted the visitors, headed by the Blues' Band, to the Temple, where a magnificent banquet was served. The spread was excellent in every detail and was thoroughly enjoyed. There were many speeches and the visitors were highly entertained and will long remember the hospitality of St. Andrew's Commandery.

Such a crowd of howlers was never seen on the mid-river ball-field at any other time. They yelled in one great chorus during the entire game, and guyed both teams with distinct and impudent imparteams with distinct and impudent imeartiality. When Bailey Saunders made a grand-stand error on third base some one shouted, "Give him a flour-barrel," and this delicate and appropriate sentiment was heartily applauded. Later on, when the yard-stickers began to get deeper and deeper into the soup, the cranks assured them that they were "not measuring calico now."

The adherents of the sugar-sellers ever and anon gave vent to their war-cry, which was the following classic couplet:

Ta-ra-ra-boom-der-ay, Ta-ra-rapboom-der-ee. That we are players you may see.

Ta-rapboom-der-ee,
That we are players you may see.

And the admirers of the lesing team responded with the disconsolate refrain:
His, has, hoe; his, hase, hoe;
Dry goods, dry goods, we are the stock.
This uncommon behavior on the part of the crowd was not to be wondered at, for the game smacked of the celestial gambols some times to be seen on the banks of the placid Hiang-ho, and in modern slang would be termed a "Chinese game."
There were several good plays, however.
Mahoney made a superb catch in left field, and Northern's work in right field was very clever. Croxton "faked" several unwary grocers on first—hiding the ball in his hand, and touching them when they left fite base.
Griffin twirled for the grocers, and was well supported by Brockenbrough, Long and Bargamin curved the horse-hide for the dry-goods men, and Sydnor held both of them excellently.
The score was as follows:

Games Played and to Be Played.

An exciting game of ball took place on Island Park on Friday evening between the teams managed by J. L. Botto and Philip Shea, which resulted in a victory for the former by the store of 21 to 8. The features of the game were the two-base hit of Botto, the home-run and phenome, nal catch of Wells in right field, and the one-hand catch of Richardson at second base. It, Kennedy deserves special mention for a timely three-base hit when the bases were full. Johnson, the pitcher for Botto's team, struck out fourteen men. He was ably supported by Gayle.

There will be a match game between the employees of Julius Meyer & Sons and Thalhimer Brothers Monday evening at 4 o'clock at Les-monument grounds. Battery for the Meyers, Shuman and Levy; battery for Thalhimer Brothers, Read and Evans.

your new spring suit of us. You can't buy anything but a stylish garment here, and we'll not allow you to wear it away unless it fits.

It is not our desire to catch you with a price, but we do ask you to look at our stock, knowing full well that it will stand the closest investigation and leave no room for doubt in your mind that you do wisely when you invest your money with us for clothing.

We can't begin to tell you in the space at command a tenth part of the styles and fabrics we have to show. We could
